

September Monthly Meeting

Speaker: Ray McDonald – Topic: Password Management Now and in the Future

This was an in-house presentation given by Ray McDonald our Technical and Administration Support Officer.

The use of passwords is an integral part of how we interact with our digital world and help to provide us with a degree of security that gives us confidence to participate in it.

During the slide and video presentation, Ray covered a number of issues relating to password management both now and in the future:

- Why do we need passwords?
- What is a “safe” password?
- How do I generate a safe password?
- How can I manage and remember my passwords?
- Are there other layers of security I should also use?
- Are there alternatives to using a password?
- Are we always going to need to use passwords?

All of these questions were answered during the presentation, and at the conclusion, attendees were provided with a reference booklet on the topics covered.

Comments by members following the presentation, were both positive and complimentary in the way the topic was so clearly delivered and explained.
